NASA Great Lakes and Midwest add Endurance Races at Putnam Park!

NASA Midwest Inc. is excited to add two additional 3 Hour Endurance races to our 2010 schedule. Both of these additional endurance races will take place at Putnam Park Road Course, the first with our May event and the second with our October event.

The NASA Midwest Endurance Season will open in at Putnam Park in May, followed by Autobahn in July and again at Autobahn in September, with the season wrapping up at Putnam Park in October. All races will be 3 hours in length, utilize the NASA ECR rules and the Supplemental NASA GL/MW rules. All NASA ECR classes will be recognized.

“We have been working hard to build an endurance racing program since our first enduro at MAM in 2007. I am very excited about the prospects of the 2010 series at 2 great tracks!” said Bryan Cohn, Director of Competition, NASA Midwest, Inc.

Dave Royce, Region Director of NASA Midwest, Inc said, “2010 looks to be a great year for endurance racing with NASA Great Lakes and Midwest. I cannot wait for the season to start”.
